Meet Our Cover Model: (THE UTTERLY ADORABLE) MINX

Minx is an adorable, snuggly guy who was born with Manx syndrome, which is a genetic condition characterized by abnormal development of the lower spine and spinal cord. He is also a miraculous survivor of FIP. Minx walks flat footed on his rear legs, and when he runs, it looks more like he's hopping like a bunny - thus the appropriate ears he got for Easter! Due to his condition, he is incontinent, and wears diapers, but don't let that stop you from adopting him! He has the biggest, most generous purr motor and loves lounging, bouncing, and snuggling.

Minx is currently in Foster Care awaiting his forever home. To learn more about Minx, or any of our adoptable animals, visit:

<https://safehavenhumane.org/adopt/>

A HUGE Thank You to Minx's Foster Mom:

Aslan Noakes

Aslan has been volunteering as a foster parent at SafeHaven for over 13 years, and is known for taking in challenging medical and special needs cats - including Minx. We are so grateful for Aslan and all the foster parents who make it possible to help animals in need every day!

Minx dressed up for Easter!

A Note From Aslan:

When people say, "Oh, I could never give them back!", I remind them that saying goodbye just opens up your home for more hellos. I'd love to be a resource for new foster parents to help support them as they learn! And one of my favorite perks about fostering, is alllll the cuteness you get!!

SafeHaven Humane Society is an independent 501(c)(3) charitable organization that relies on donor support for its adoption, education & medical programs. We are not affiliated with any other humane organizations and we do not receive any government funding or tax dollars.

LONG-TERM RESIDENTS

Dog adoptions in the US have decreased, especially large breed dogs. Shelter Animals Count is reporting a 5% drop in all dog adoptions compared to 2023. Help SafeHaven spread the word on these wonderful pets who have spent too long waiting for their forever homes.

KITTENS...LOTS & LOTS OF KITTENS

Did you know that June is National Adopt a Cat month, corresponding to the height of "kitten season"?

Kitten season may sound like a cat lover's dream...a time full of cute, fluffy babies! Those little meows, those tiny bellies, and the miniature toebeans are enough to make our hearts flutter. But it's actually an incredibly difficult time of year for SafeHaven (and other animal shelters and rescue groups across the country). Newborn kittens are among the most at-risk animals coming into shelters. Kittens, and especially newborns, are extremely susceptible to illness and require 24-hour feeding and care to help them survive.

6 Ways You Can Help During Kitten Season: (and throughout the year)

Get pets spayed or neutered by four months of age to prevent more litters from being born.

2

Adopt from SafeHaven or another rescue if you're looking for a kitten.

3

Help friends, neighbors & relatives who are giving away kittens connect with spay/neuter resources.

4

Sign up to foster kittens. You can find out more information on our website!

5

Check our wishlist and donate much-needed kitten supplies.

6

Don't be a kit-napper! As difficult as it sounds, it's best to avoid automatically scooping up stray kittens. The mother cat is likely nearby, and while your intentions for taking the kittens to a shelter might be good, it actually reduces their chances of survival. Humans just can't do what mamma cats do - so let mom do her job!

CAT PYRAMID

ONE UNSPAVED CAT CAN TURN
INTO OVER 400,000 CATS!

Prevent the Cat Pyramid - Spay & Neuter your Pets!

With the warm weather returning, it's a great time to talk about the importance of spaying and neutering! This is incredibly important as just ONE unspayed female cat can give birth to about 180 kittens in her lifetime...And so can each of those 180 kittens. This means that the population grows and grows and grows with no end in sight. This also means more and more and more pets without homes - something we are aiming to tackle every day at SafeHaven!

In addition to preventing the Cat Pyramid from forming, spaying and neutering can help your pet (cats & dogs!) to live a longer and healthier life by preventing common infections and certain types of cancers. You may also see behavioral benefits too, such as less desire to run away, less marking territory, and no heat cycles.

On top of ensuring that all of our adopted pets have been spayed or neutered, when space in our medical clinic schedule allows, SafeHaven can offer these services to community pets as well.

For more information on our Community Spay & Neuter services, please visit:

HOW TO GET SCRATCH RELIEF

Scratching is a normal, natural and necessary behavior for our feline companions. But we humans aren't always excited about WHERE they choose to scratch. Sadly, cats are often relinquished to shelters because of destructive scratching. When left to pick their own surfaces to relieve that urge to scratch, they often choose furniture, carpets/rugs and even the walls. You cannot and should not stop a cat from scratching altogether, but you can help your cat fulfill their natural need to scratch (and not do damage to the furniture) by redirecting their behavior.

As you're working to redirect scratching behaviors, be patient and try a variety of approaches. Sharing your home with a cat means respecting who they are and what they need as a member of your family. You'll find something that will work!

5 Ways to Redirect Cat Scratching

1. Place scratching posts near where cats are already scratching. You can also put scratching posts where you'd prefer that cats scratch, like in a designated play room. Deck out the scratching posts with an enticing scent, like a catnip spray!

2. Provide a variety of scratching options. Offer different scratching textures (ones that mimic the textures of trees are especially good) because that's what cats enjoy scratching most of all.

3. Use humane deterrents. Prevent cats from scratching in certain areas by using humane deterrents like double sided tape or aluminum foil. Scents like menthol or citrus also work well (cats are NOT big fans!) as do motion detectors that startle cats away from furniture.

4. Trim cat's claws regularly. Regular nail trimming will do wonders to temper the urge, as old nail sheaths won't need to be removed. Trimmed nails also decrease the damage done if your cat does scratch. The ideal length of time between nail trims can vary between 2-4 weeks.

5. Offer cats lots of toys. Cats sometimes scratch to relieve excess energy. Toys and plenty of playtime will keep your cats entertained and give them an outlet for their energy, helping to redirect their scratching instinct.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WELLNESS EXAMS FOR PETS

Pets are genetically wired to hide any illness. Through routine wellness exams, preventable diseases like obesity, ear infections and dental disease can be addressed, and early screenings for arthritis, diabetes and kidney disease can be performed. The net result of routine wellness exams is early detection and prevention of disease, which means a healthier and longer life for your pet.

Recent studies done by both the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA) and the American Animal Hospital Association (AAHA) discovered some startling statistics that indicate visits to veterinarians are declining while instances of preventable diseases in pets are increasing. This is very alarming, as the numbers of pets in the United States have increased by more than 36 percent, according to the Bayer Veterinary Usage Study.

Community Support Services

Increased costs of living have a direct impact on pet families. According to Humane World for Animals, at least 20 million pets are affected by their owners having limited resources due to lack of financial means. This is why SafeHaven has prioritized our community support services as one of our essential programs.

From pet food to low cost veterinary care, we are committed to keeping pets with the families who love them.

Happy Tails

Fester with his parents,
Tom & Katie

FESTER TURNS 15!

Twelve years ago, Tom & Katie Leggate saw a photo of a posing dog on SafeHaven's website and knew immediately that they had to meet Fester. They quickly realized what a character Fester was: he cried loudly while riding in the car, he didn't like water or baths, and he even hated walking on hard surfaces. But beyond his quirks, Tom & Katie also saw that he was extremely loyal, clever & trainable. He delights kids with his one and only trick - you pretend to shoot him with your pointer finger and he will play "dead".

When Fester turned 15 in May, the Leggate's knew they needed to celebrate Fester in style. They threw him a birthday party celebrating his Mexican-Irish heritage (he's a Chihuahua/Boston Terrier-mix) and asked party guests to donate treats to SafeHaven in lieu of gifts. What was his favorite present? His new pineapple bed that he got from his auntie.

"Having a birthday party for our dog felt borderline ridiculous, but he's brought so many laughs and such loyalty over the years that we decided to embrace the idea and celebrate." - Katie

SHE'S THE QUEEN – WE JUST LIVE HERE!

The Jones house is full of chaos - 2 kids, 3 fluffy dogs, and 1 cat to rule them all. When they adopted Enid on Halloween, Darren & Jamie expected the kids to want to name her 'Pumpkin' or something else Halloween-themed. Instead, they came up with Enid...not a name every 2 & 3-year old kid would come up with but it definitely suites her.

Enid means 'spirit', so it shouldn't come as a surprise at how energetic Enid can get, especially when she's bossing her big dog brothers around. She demands treats with long stares and belly rubs by flopping on her back as you're walking by; won't let any door be closed (even kitchen cupboards) since she 'might' want to go exploring; and expects to be told she's beautiful a minimum of 5 times a day. "She's the queen and we're her willing servants!"

Enid will take any opportunity to lounge in bags & boxes

"Tell them she's our little sassy tiger" - Jackson & Lily (on what readers should know about their kitty sister Enid)

Meet Some Of Our 'DOGGY DAY OUT' ROCKSTARS!

In April our 'Doggy Day Out' program celebrated it's 1st anniversary. Shelters can be a stressful place for animals, many of whom don't understand why they are there. Our Doggy Day Out program gives our pups a break from the shelter environment and gets them seen by potential adopters! You can take your pup to the park, go for a hike or to the beach, or simply relax in your home. The potential for fun is endless!

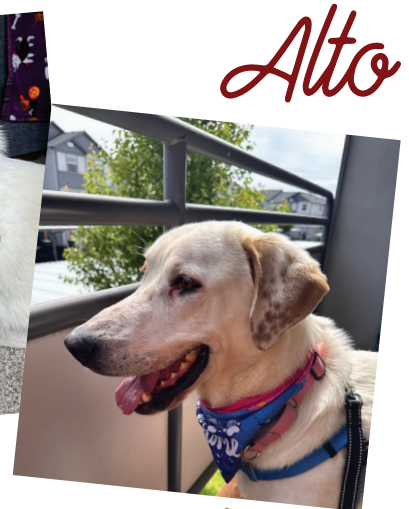

Meet some of our program's rockstar participants:

Annie

Annie may be a senior, but she is still full of fun and playful energy. She's enjoyed trips to the beach, walks at the park and soaking in all the sights and smells on her adventures away from the shelter. She's a great passenger - calm and content in the car, making her an easy companion for any type of outing. Plus she greets everyone with her big smile! Who wouldn't love that sweet face?!

Alto is an adorable 2-year-old Great Pyrenees mix that is the perfect combination of calm and playful! From going on walks to relaxing at a home and eating treats, Alto has enjoyed all of his Doggy Day Out adventures. He's done great with loose leash walking and slept soundly through the night. He's ready to spend a day...or a lifetime...with you!
